A NEW PREMIUM AUDIENCE FOR PREMIUM PROPERTIES

Solstice Media reaches a sophisticated South Australian market with quality independent journalism through its SALIFE, InDaily and CityMag brands and their social media.

Within this trusted environment we have created a new Premium Property platform to reach a broad, qualified audience looking for quality properties, investments and new developments.

This offering includes a refined Premium Property website with detailed property listings, a digital newsletter sent to more than 100,000 subscribers, and expert social media amplification.

Complementing our increasingly popular prestige property coverage across our print and digital products, Premium Property connects vendors, agents and the reader to the best properties on the market, while also bringing to life relevant real estate stories.

Packaged with print opportunities in SALIFE Magazine and online each day with InDaily, Premium Property is the perfect environment to promote your message, brand, listing and profile to an established audience.

Premium Property will launch in November to engage our readers and deliver outstanding results for our advertisers.
